All the top scientists in every field will be frauds?

Quote from Scott Adams

The incentive system in science guarantees that eventually all the top scientists in every field will be frauds.

Any scientist who tries to play it straight will lose to scientists who are willing to publish lies that look impressive and also agree with the approved narrative.

It probably already happened with climate and covid.

Design is destiny.

Highly recommend Paul Feyerabend's book Against Method on the subject. The book gives some nuanced merit to @ScottAdamsSays initial statement While using pretty neat arguments, which fly well in that direction. Among others:

- » Troll for a good cause, they don't mean what they say
- » Dogmatic arrogance of scientist
- » Science has really dangerous elements
- » Don't take yourself so seriously.
- » Science shouldn't stifle creativity

» Embrace Chaos
